All information you need on one display!

www.qualteh.com/iqboard

Companies in various areas of business are searching for ways to consistently and effectively provide current business information and data that individuals could act upon immediately in order to increase the productivity of the business.

The challenge for everyone is to find a way to make real time information (with different data sources) available and accessible on the same media support.

This timely information needs to be delivered to all levels of employees in a format appropriate to each level, from the executive offices to the manufacturing floor.

SOLUTION ADVANTAGES AND BENEFITS FOR USERS

Our solution, IQboard, is an appropriate medium for this task. Not only does it make the information (from videos to live feeds) available to everyone and allows users to manage what and when is displayed on each display, but it also ensures maximum visibility that could not be easily ignored and would promote collaborative behavior.

Even more, the software component of the solution allows the fast link between various databases (both document and business solutions) and a large range of display devices (large format displays, industrial displays, tablet PCs and industrial PCs).

The management of the displays is an easy one and does not require the involvement of a very technical responsible, due to its intuitive drag & drop configuration panel included in the software solution. Thus, either if the displays are meant for use in production, on company halls, in healthcare institutions, retail locations or parking areas, the information on the screen can be easily administrated by a department manager or other responsible.

ATTRIBUTES

Notes, images, schedules, time counters, calendars, charts, videos, everything designed for a public display can get from creators to users.

Companies can display different kinds of messages, thanks to the attributes of our complete IQboard solution:

- user-based solution, with no need for a IT professional to run it;
- real-time access to the information, for much better informed employees;
- transparent internal communication and tracking of various processes in the company;
- various information displayed, thanks to a very intuitive and permissive management interface;
- easy management of information on the display (although IT staff is involved in the implementation of new display installations, they are not necessary for the day-to-day management of the content).

OPERATION AND MODULES

IQboard is an extremely effective way to communicate or promote your business among employees and customers through a concept very simple to explain, in a few steps:

1. we are implementing the complete IQboard solution (hardware and software) within your company: mount displays (large or tablet) in a high visibility area (production hall, lounge, reception, large work offices, dining rooms, shops etc.) and train you to properly use the software application;

2. your IT responsible creates application users inside your company and assigns them rights to use the displays;

3. users in your company (department managers, secretary, marketing etc.) manage the content that will run on displays allocated to them through a very simple and intuitive drag & drop interface, that does not require any IT knowledge and can be made by any employee.

APLICABILITY AREAS

No matter what industry your company is in, that requires continuous information of clients and/ or employees, IQboard is certainly the most complete and effective solution through which the information selected by you can reach the selected receptors in real time and with immediate impact on their work and the results of your business.

Production and Automotive – demo videos of tracks production, remaining working time, work shifts, outputs graphics, product drawings etc.
